

The Assembly

Cry Of The Afflicted

Gather the memoirs, all the essential thoughts
Or the assembly will weave the threads of our laws
They will advance the ruse, they are the deceivers
Together plotting to censure the truth
Idle minds left to their own desires
Will indulge the corruption bred, they will comply

Can you taste the poison they nurture?
Will we permit the agents to govern?

Discount their doctrines, demand to be heard
Join with the malcontents gathered here now
We will oppose the grasp of the strongarm clutching our throats
United in numbers we stand for the blind
Endure for the hidden slaves, call them by name
The assembly is destined to fall forever in pain

Can you taste the poison they nurture?
Will we permit the agents to govern?
Cast your vote by show of hand
Raise your fist, recite the vow, defy the council of assassins
