

Kiss & Tell

Crystal Lewis

A kiss, a kiss is a clue to the heart
A window that lets light impart
Or hides you away in the dark

The dark can consume and it will
Your will, an enemy still
And it will be forever until

You kiss & tell me
What you're thinking
Kiss & tell
Tell me what you believe
Are you brave enough?
Have faith enough to stay?

Truth, truth is the one thing we trust
Worthy of all that we must
Give up to gain to matter what

What if the road's not paved with ease?
What if storms are all you see?
Will you kiss and leave
Or stay and still believe?

Don't trade your inheritance
For a moments worth of pleasure
It only adds to emptiness
A world of worthless treasure
