

Heart So Dry

Dami Im

Not away, we left it too long
Now it's nowhere inside
I pretend that I can be strong
That I'm more wrong than I'm right
My mind runs wild,
My heart stands still,
So I wage this war against my will
I can't seem to pick a side
So I spin this coin and let it decide

We're running out of time
We're falling out of life
With a heart so dry
In you I would confide
But how can one survive?
With a heart so dry

I prefer to sit in silence
When there's nothing to say
Storm with lows bring the violence
Let it take me away
My mind runs wild,
My heart stands still,
So I wage this war against my will
And I can't seem to pick a side
So I spin this coin and let it decide

We're running out of time
We're falling out of life
With a heart so dry
In you I would confide
But how can one survive?
With a heart so dry

Give you all the love I burn
Say goodbye before it hurts
I'm hurt
Try decide into the deep
Pull you on to find some peace
I'm hurt

We're running out of time
We're falling out of life
With a heart so dry
In you I would confide
But how can one survive?
With a heart so dry
With a heart so dry
With a heart so dry
