

Waiting To See You

Dan Hartman

You will be here on the next train
Moving slowly through the warm rain
And before you're even here I see you running to me
Rushing into my arms
Nothing stands in your way
Come back like a dream from my past
Here at last

Oh, I've been waiting to see you
I've been waiting to see you
It's all a matter of time
Till out of the crowd you'll appear

Are you waiting to see me?
Do you need my love?
Oh, I keep waiting to see you

I can feel my own heartbeat
Through every sound of your voice
As we walk underneath the moonlight
On every last night
Now I'm staring at strangers
Pretending that each one is you

I've been thinking in circles about us
But that's nothing new
I've been watching other lovers
Walking two by two

I've been waiting to see you
I've been waiting to see you
It's all a matter of time
Till I open my eyes and you're here

Are you waiting to see me?
Do you need my love?
Well, I've been waiting
I'm waiting just to see you

Lalalala....

Run to me now and stay
'Cause nothing can stand in our way

Oh, I've been waiting to see you
I've been waiting to see you
It's all a matter of time
Till I open my eyes and you're here

Are you waiting to see me? (Waiting to see me)
Do you need my love? (Sweet, sweet love)
It's all a matter of time
So I've been waiting

Oh, I've been waiting to see you
I've been waiting to see you
It's all a matter of time

Till I open my eyes and you're here

Are you waiting to see me? (Waiting to see me, baby)

Do you need my love?

It's all a matter of time