

Tears Stupid Tears

Daniel Johnston

time is a matter of fact and it's gone and it'll never come back and mine, it's wasted all the time tears, stupid tears, bring me down i got lucky by coincidence but i got my feelings bent and my head looking at the ground tears, stupid tears, bring me down how could you know that's where the wind blows out to the wind that's where my love goes and it brings me down
tie my brain into a knot those tears, stupid tears, bring me down i know that i have a friend he stays with me all day long he knows and i walk in his shell i was born in the body and right from the start those tears, stupid tears, been tearing us apart how could i know that's where the wind blows
out to the wind that's where my love goes
and it brings me down
tie my brain into a knot
those tears, stupid tears, bring me down