Mechanically Divine

Darkane

Limbs failing to comply with impulses from my brain Physical limitations are proven too great to be accepted Structural failure, a product of poor carnal design Unsatisfactory bodily architecture

A severance of carnal bond Mechanically divine

When the act transcends human bounds I can always accept the pain

Forced to live in this pod of moldering flesh Left to die in this shell in which we are born Redefining the concept of mankind Perpetual

Corporal deconstruction Mechanical fabrication

A need to improve on this frail human pattern Researching ways to amend the flaws of creation Ameliorate this weak, substandard anatomy Reinforce the frame and substitute piece by piece

I will surpass both flesh and blood Bionically supreme

When the act transcends human bounds I can always accept the pain

Forced to live in this pod of moldering flesh Left to die in this shell in which we are born I'm becoming mechanically divine Perpetual
