Slice of Time

David Crosby

A slice of time Curling, peeling Back from the edge of the knife

Light fluttering
As if between two trains
Motordrive frames of life

Long blends of days Stream into nights Consciousness barely coping

The land going by seems level But really the tracks are Increasingly sloping

Images, images, images Arranged against a blank wall Images, images, images, images Telling the truth to us all

Pluck out a day
A week or an hour
HOLD IT UP, HOLD IT UP TO THE LIGHT

Freeze the frame Really look at the faces With all of your sight

See the eyes Looking at you Immerse yourself into that minute

My teacher said time is elastic I wonder just what I'll find in it

Images, images, images Arranged against a blank wall Images, images, images, images Telling the truth to us all
