High Lonesome Moan

David Pajo

How far you are when close How near to me when gone The dark is full of ghosts That howl into the dawn That howl into the dawn The sky has opened The power is down Deserted in this town High lonesome moan How far you are when close How near to me when gone The lone forsaken voice So broken and withdrawn Broken and withdrawn The sky has opened The power is down Deserted in this town High lonesome moan