

No More Rhyme

Debbie Gibson

When the fear sets in Where the fire burns
Where I find a place Where there's nowhere to turn
When the evening sings an eerie song
longing for the day
you say I'm wrong

You can find your place But never fit in and only when you've left do you know where you've been I can see the light
but only when it's gone
You can go on waiting
But only for so long (so long, so long)

I know we are right It's not always clear because I've never felt the fear Can it stay so good forever in time?
I've always felt the rhythm
What happens when
there's no more rhyme?

Can we face ourselves
like we face each other?
We've never felt anything on our own
I can't wait much longer to feel any danger I hope we're not living for a lifetime alone

Hard to go on It's like waiting for the other shoe to drop I'll never stop believing in you
It's just we never had to struggle
It all came too easy
I hope we felt what we felt from the start We've never suffered a broken heart We've been so blinded by all the best We never put our love to the test (to the test)

I've always felt the rhythm
What happens when
there's no more rhyme?
