

Spent years driving to the sun,
Though now I admit I was lost.
Can't say that I'd throw it all away
But I think I'd change the cost of my salvation

Throw down your cross child
And dance with me
Everyone Everywhere
Has got their own cross to bear
Lay down your cross child
And dance with me

Spent years and mental tears
In a beat up black T/A
Got lost so many times...
But at least I remembered your name
Sometimes I got so scared when I couldn't find my way
But at least I know right now
That I'm the only one in that race

At Times well, we're concerned with everything
But then there are days we make it through
And everything's all right
And you can sleep at night
And when I see you're standing there
As I take my place in line -
Dreaming all your dreams...
Everything's all right
Everything's all right
