

Wait a While

Deep Purple

Wait before you go
And you will know
What I am feeling as you leave
I understand
Your need for some time
Some solitude

Wait a while before you go
You should know
By now my heart belongs to you

I know that you must leave
And I can see
That it's not easy for you
Know that I'll be here
And know that my soul
Is always near you

Wait a while before you go
You should know
By now I love you
And so I will wait a while for you

Shake the vile (?)
And the leaves start falling
Spill the wine
And all our dreams come tumbling down
All around

The sounds of time
Are slipping through my fingers.
You and I still belong
With linger on and on (?)

Now I know if I can only let go
And wait a while
You'll be here again with me
The same old friends we've always been

Wait a while before you go
You should know
By now I love you
And so I will wait a while
Wait a while
Wait a while for you
For you