Nocturnal Fear

Dimmu Borgir

Obscurity hides the plateau Stars darken in their place Nanna's glowing above Illuminates the silent scenery

Seven they are Yezidi's call Aeon of night Eager to Prevail

From the mountains of dawn they cry
The call of the frantic god
From the womb of mother earth they scream
The wage of creation and sin

("The sleeping lord awakes
Tiamat pulls at her chains,
The blind phantom rages
Azag Thoth howls
Vibrations at the black ether's edge
As nocturnal fear penetrates the land
Ecstatical celebrations at their zenith
The seven sharpen their claws...")

Winds emerge from the east Deep, dark water moves Even the cold it don eclipses When they adore the dog-faced beast

As they admit the infernal tide The eye on the throne derides The old gods and their tribes in chaos Tiamat laughs pride..