

In Your Own World

Dionne Bromfield

Listen, so convinced that he's the one and he loves you obsessed with being in his arms no, he's got a girlfriend he says he's with her to get under your skin told you once, I told you twice he dont love u but your rather believe the lie keep pushing through the way and you don't hear a word I gotta say and you continue to deny that love has made you blind cuz your living in your own world everybody knows what's going on but just talking a baboo your just dreaming in your own world you're on your own can't say that your ain't being told ignorance is never placed, don't be stupid listening to so called friends cuz when you walk away I hear what they won't say to your face

I knew your rather just pretend but I wish I could knock some sense into your head don't watch u hurt to way when it finally come to reality but you continue to deny that love has made you blind

cuz your living in your own world
everybody knows what's going on
but just talking a baboo
your just dreaming in your own world
you're on your own
can't say that your ain't being told

I dont need no hide no feelings but a real friend would tell you the truth I tried to get u to attempted but u just refuse

cuz your living in your own world
everybody knows what's going on
but just talking a baboo
your just dreaming in your own world
you're on your own
can't say that your ain't being told