Diorama

Endless rows of boys and girls Spreading the news it's better to let go I'm involved in other lines I quarantee there will be no excuse Loyalty to lunacy Turn into velocity and run Romeo against the wall Grant him no adrenaline at all Pull the trigger julia Grandiose there's nothing more To wreck Velocity How can you expect me to come sober When there are so many lovers in the parks How can you expect me to come sober With all the lifeless voices in my head This is just a private war I am stuck here nowhere else to go Pavloved insecurity Look at me this isn't me out there Gliding flight identities You must feel ridiculous right now I am tired of being awake Close the case there's nothing more to say How can you expect me to come sober When there are so many lovers in the parks How can you expect me to come sober With all the lifeless voices in my head
