

He's Calling You

Donnie McClurkin

He's calling you, He's calling you
Tell me what are you going to do?
Your time has come for a life brand new
He is calling you, He is calling you

There's a voice deep inside
You hear it and you cannot hide
Seems like after all you've tried
You never satisfied

You softly heard Him call and say
Promised that you'd change someday
Even if you run away, you still can't deny
Something's going on and it's real
Somehow deep inside you can feel

He's calling you, He's calling you
Tell me what are you going to do?
Your time has come for a life brand new
He is calling you, He is calling you

Remember when you said before
That you needed something more
Now it's time to realize, He's knocking at your door
Things that you used to do
Somehow don't appeal to you

Why would you deny
That you don't want them anymore
Listen to your heart and to your soul
And don't be afraid anymore
