

My Perfect Rhyme

Donny Osmond

There's a song, nobody's heard, I could sing you every word
Funny, how I seem to know it by heart
Reminds me of the joy and tears of every day of every year
Help me seize the moment now and make the music last

'Cause every melody is a symphony for an audience of one
That's when I realize, I couldn't live without your love
Every word you say is a sweet refrain in the most beautiful song
Every word and line, every beat in time
Girl, I know you're mine, my perfect rhyme

Poetry and harmony in everything you say to me
That's the feeling that I get in my heart
So come to me and take my hand
I'll lead you through the longest dance
Even when the curtain falls, we'll make the music last

'Cause every melody is a symphony for an audience of one
That's when I realize, I couldn't live without your love
Every word you say is a sweet refrain in the most beautiful song
Every word and line, every beat in time
Girl, I know you're mine, my perfect rhyme

I need to hear you got to be right where you are
I need to feel you no matter how close or far
But when I look back on our lives
Too many words for just one song
But all I know, baby, the music will play on and on

Every melody is a symphony for an audience of one
That's when I realize, I couldn't live without your love
Every word you say is a sweet refrain in the most beautiful song
Every word and line, every beat in time
Girl, I know you're mine, my perfect rhyme
