Once There was a time When you could trust And everyone was great For a while And you could walk at night and feel so safe No man would ever turn a face in hate Then I didn't mind Now I grind my teeth And try to swallow Life Is so unkind But if we could talk then maybe we'll be safe Don't ever wanna see your face in hate Hate can kill Hate can kill Once There was a time When we could trust And everyone was great For a while We could walk at night and feel so safe No man should ever turn a face in hate Hate can kill Hate can kill
