

My downfall, I'm tripping on the edge Push me in the back and I'll be stepping right over.
Reality is tipping on it's end. Push me in the back and you'll be treading on a crack in the ice

Your silent scream it beckons to me but I'm too blind to see
Then I step into a dream and finally your eyes fade to black and I see

The starlight within shining a light over my galaxy
Colors spring to life sending me into serenity Yeah the starlight within, a guider of life in a sense of divinity
And the spirit in me seizes to be
Your eyes fade to black and I see

Come nightfall, the beast again awakes Crawling deep inside and I begin to feel the change taking over me Stirring up a rage, push me in the back and he'll be slipping right out of his cage

The horror scream, a catastrophe the demon inside of me
Then I step into a dream and finally your eyes fade to
black and I see

The starlight within shining a light over my galaxy
Colors spring to life sending me into serenity
I let the starlight within rule over life with a sense
of divinity
And the devil in me seizes to be
Your eyes fade to black and I see

The starlight within shining a light over my galaxy
Spirits come alive unveiling my violent complexity
I let the starlight within rule over life with a sense
of divinity
Take me once and for all my destiny calls
My eyes fade to black and I fall
And the spirit in me seizes to be
Your eyes fade to black and I see