The stranger it seems, the clearer it gets in my eyes It's like all that is wicked, is natural with my sight As damned as I may seem to you, the feeling gets me high Cause I do feel I'm blessed, with the demoneye

With eyes of a damned, and sense of the insane The stark raving mad, run without shame

The stranger it seems, the stronger I get in my mind You'll all be subhuman, inferior to my shame

The demon am I, and demon my eyes I am the power, watch me arise

Sacred sights of fire Blinds my human eyes Truth as spooked by liars Leaves me drained and dry

Demoneye, bless my sight
Let me live without the light
The demon is not a part of me
I, am part of the demon

N' the clearer it gets, the quicker it darkens the skys And I'll become king, of all that you despise

Demoneye, demon