Grind Me In The Gears

Edwin McCain

I'm holding my last breath
It's burning in my lungs
Clenching up my eyes
Bloody up my tongue

For the words that might escape Are ringing in my ears Grinds me to a pulp Grind me in the gears

My frozen spirit aches I slip another day Start to lose my grip Find another way

For the life that might escape Has been echoing for years Grinds me to a pulp Grind me in the gears

I've seen all the faces
They mirror me
And I've felt the tearing...tearing of the teeth

I've given up my ghosts
Barely breathe your name
Offer up myself
Pray you'll do the same

For the love that might escape Well that's the biggest fear Grinds me to a pulp Grinds me in the gears