

Real World

Eisley

Chit chit chattering hear your voice in the room but the noise between us hides you from my view Chit chit chattering as I quiver inside at the thought of your love sinking with nothing to prove

And let's face it love,
I'm a wreck without your help
Wreck without your help [x2]

Because I won't stand a chance in the real world, in the real world
If you're not by my side I won't survive
You are, you are the key so let's run away
You are, you are the key so let's run away

Marching on, marching on with our teeth to the wind
With our wrists tied to each other we now begin We're holding on to the love we have
As we look into the sun and forget the past

And let's face it love,
I'm a wreck without your help
Wreck without your help [x2]

Because I won't stand a chance in the real world, in the real world
If you're not by my side I won't survive
You are, you are the key so let's run away
You are, you are the key so let's run away

Because I won't stand a chance in the real world, in the real world
If you're not by my side I won't survive
You are, you are the key so let's run away
You are, you are the key so let's run away