I remember reggae woman on the 29th floor Sometimes summer in the reggae room She dancing and singing all the day As she stand behind the door Heard her vice and body fights Connect just in her eye saloon

I remember reggae woman, she was captured that young She touched me herself in flying high And behind her reggae lover as the sound and old sun On the wall want shake you round And I wish to stay or die

Since you're gone reggae woman I know I got dream to be dreamed As your move of the river and stream Never sees to leave and go

I remember reggae woman on the 29th floor Sitting down and after almost done As the days of summer standing there in an open door After she was more than sweet After all and I'm just one

Since you're gone...

I remember reggae woman on the 29th floor All her smile is all she left to me Good enough for me is I can't I can't see her anymore She is over need to me And she told me how to be

Since you're gone...
Since you're gone...
