The Inner Room

The inner room Was where the game was played At first I never saw her The light was shining, in my eyes

Like a goddess she walked towards me My heart's beating fast I fell for her in a single moment Who cares, what she's done

Deep inside the inner room Their your fantasies are made A pharaoh's tomb, full of beautiful slaves

The inner room, a dangerous place to play Where false illusions linger You can look, but you can't have your way

Words of caution I've heard so many's But my heart was in flames She's not worth all the endless sorrow I've got to have her, come what may

She is the one for me No matter what they all say Now it doesn't matter She is the woman for me

I've got to have her, she is the one and only
