

Tell me all about yourself tell me all about your favorite bands how there super-indie-neo-hardcore tell me all about your favorite hobbies and the way you love sunsets well who doesn't

Still I'd like the chance to really see if what you say is true and has integrity cause I could know everything about you and still know nothing at all I know that it's wrong to form an opinion only what I see but in my defense it's really hard to know whe MySpace is t he only thing that you ever show

So it seems you got a lot of friends how many of them know you or even care if your alive or dead? when was the last time you were honest instead of posting blogs of f ake emotions

[chorus]

When you finally resurface to the point of finding purpose we'll begin to see just who you are