There'll come a moment in life
When you will realize
You'll need a second just for breathing - breathing

Don't have to fight the instinct And finally (you'll) say goodbye To bars and chains and to your prison - prison

You're a man in black and white in a world of colours You seem alive but deep inside your heart is cold Don't surrender to indifference, to your shallow world Or with the dead you're gonna walk

[Chorus]

You are the walking spirit You are the dead of night You are the fallen angel You're here to kill the light

You got to handle the thorns
To get your own red rose
And let your passions be led by the bleeding

So get the main role in this movie that we all call life Don't be a walker-on- don't be the walking dead

You're a man in black and white in a world of colours You seem alive but deep inside your heart is cold Don't surrender to indifference, to your shallow world Or with the dead you're gonna walk

[Chorus]

You are the walking spirit You are the dead of night You are the fallen angel You're here to kill the light

[Solo: Teemu Mantysaari]

[Chorus]

You are the walking spirit You are the dead of night You are the fallen angel You're here to kill the light
