Helped By Science

Help me to light the fire try it in a different way given wings to be on your tail not so bold now facing in a different way basic forms will be on your trail

If I stow away our light burns low sheer might takes it he's the one to know got my face low

I want to start a fire hand it to me on a plate those who fail could be helped by science are you sure now you're perfect in every way two more lines and you're on your way

Will I show the way can't fight let go sheer height breaks it how were we to know got my face low
