Deathbringer from the Sky

High above the ground Beyond the thunderclouds A black shade is flying alone Once so feared among men Now the legend is becoming too old

But finally the horrifying truth is about to unfold

Death bringer from the sky Hunting victims in the night Feel the terror, as flames are burning bright There is no tower as high or cave so deep That can save you from its endless spite So bow down and face your wretched destiny

A den filled with treasures and gold No longer calms his spirit so cold Again it s time to spread the wings of doom A growl shakes the ground Flames blind men and smoke covers the stars As he rises towards an ancient sky The era of total chaos will arrive Men shall flee in fear My name will haunt their mortal souls I'll burn their flesh and I'll crush their bones Your screams can't make me feel pity or regret I only feel furious hatred With fire my domination is gained Shall burn away and let my kind rule the world again

Ensiferum