Blank

No conviction in your numb mind A hidden cell of chemicals Keep your soul on my projection Never turn on the camera

Because I kinda like the blank way I fill up my life I don't care for nothing That gets me too high

I want some dampened spirits And black and bitter spoons I'm not looking for affection I'm living on the moon

No conviction in your voice box It's buried low beneath the guilt It all seems real as you whisper She lies warm and the smell is you

And she knows I kinda like the blank way You fill up my mind I don't care for nothing That gets me too high

I want some dampened spirits And black and bitter spoons I'm not looking for reflection I'm living on the moon

Here I am, right at home in my crater Here I am feeling old Here I am wishing for a miracle I need you to know

That I like the blank way I fill up the sky And I care for nothing You put in my mind

I like the blank way You fill up my mind I like the blank way You fill up my mind

I like the blank way You fill up my mind Failure
