

Macaque

Failure

There's a philosopher I once met he showed me many things he told me things of the world his face was unusual-but it could tell a story-- with rich detail...in rich detail

Sometimes eating
sometimes eyes closed
there was always that face and it's knowledge of things he never spoke-- he needed not to
he needed not to

He sits in a zoo in North America has no other in his habitat he's originally from west Africa
West Africa
West Africa
West Africa