Dig

Fanfarlo

Look how it grows deep within us Like precious little stones in the depths Fingers and palms in the mud dig deeper

The pocketless thieves coming closer Come washing ashore from the ocean Armed to their teeth It's been a long time coming

The moment is here
And the pressure is very real
So just cut a little hole
And let it all equalise
We're planting our flags
But we don't dig deep enough

Look how they grow and betray us Little white maggots in the ground Look at them go cross the ocean Left with our hands in the mud

Our feverish minds hard at work now
Precious little stones in the depths
Look how it glows! It cuts through your bones!
Reflecting the light
It's been a long time coming
