

The Impossible

Feeder

Feeding the fire, love is an open flame
Temperatures rising through my body to my brain
Guiding me by, now I'm in a better place
Nothing is standing in my way

This is the life I crave, no apologies
You stare at the clocks too long for a simple remedy

Stepping up now on top of the world
Looking back down, living on dreams of the outside from above
Stepping up now on top of the world
The impossible love

Operatives, decision is a lonely play
Feelings I kept up, they lie low under the radar waves
Forces within are knocking at my door
Pushing the barricades and coming up for more

This is the life I crave, no apologies
You stare at the clocks too long for a simple remedy

Stepping up now on top of the world (It's alright now)
Looking back down, living on dreams of the outside from above
Stepping up now on top of the world (It's alright now)
The impossible love

Standing on my own two feet
I never thought I would, the fate has carried me
Above the canyons, stormy seas
My life, shine on

Feeding the fire, love is an open flame
Nothing is standing in my way

Stepping up now on top of the world (It's alright now)
Looking back down, living on dreams of the outside from above
Stepping up now on top of the world
It's alright now, it's alright now, it's alright now
Stepping up now on top of the world (It's alright now)
Looking back down, living on dreams of the outside from above
Stepping up now on top of the world (It's alright now)
The impossible love

Standing on my own two feet
My life, shine on