You Gave Me A Promise

Fireflight

The waves are crashing down on me But I know that this cannot be the end, be the end... Right now I feel like copping out Will You hold me up, if I just say That I will stay

I will hold on to this hope that I have You gave me a promise You gave me a promise I'll push through this moment, I'll never give up You gave me a promise You gave me a promise I'm so tired that I can't stand

But I know that time will heal this heart, heal this heart...

With every door that's slamming shut A new one's there to lead me where You are

You, You call out to me You're just out of reach But I'm closing in I'm still going, still believing in Your word
