

– Naiads, Cassadies

Fleet Foxes

Who stole the life from you?
Who turned you so against you?
Who was the thief who shaved your teeth
Accepting just virtue
Ooh

And did he act alone?
Were any more complicit?
When he would sing and offer the ring, what older voice said, " kiss it"?

Ooh
Ooh
Ooh

Fire can't doubt its heat
Water can't doubt its power
You're not adrift, you're not a gift
You know you're not a flower
