

You're gonna get yourself hurt she said
I must be the man I've never been
Do you get that feeling?
This feelings lost and will this ever end?
If his heart is still beating, leave me to handle it
Until my conscience is free and clear

How could this suffering take the place of a loved one?

By now my arms are spread so thin
Why do you hang this over my head?
You know you did this to yourself
I swore I'd never see this place again

If you feel like letting go to be alone then take things slow
It's exactly how were meant to be a waste of time
Without a second try

Every time I see these faces without me
It's not the weather making my bones cold
There's no feeling in your own skin
You're so easy, so easy, so easy

If you feel like letting go to be alone then take things slow
It's exactly how were meant to be a waste of time
Without a second try

She must be the devil
Why do we fight for this when there's more questions than answers?
They call us fools as we watch ourselves be buried alive
She must be the devil

If you feel like letting go to be alone then take things slow
It's exactly how were meant to be a waste of time
Without a second try
