

Empty words backed by empty symbols
Cover up empty promises obscure the whole truth
So I've tried to listen empty slogans
They just fall on my left and deaf ear

And now I think I've got it figured out
Why should it matter how we live our lives
If it's going to leave them broken hearted
Why should it matter how it started

Bad science creates bad medicine inspired by a bad
Religion
Masquerades as good intention
I've tried I've tried to hold it but it hurts so bad
All I could do was quickly let go

The wonderful are the first to fall
While they alone think they can save us all
