It's Come to This And I found my head uncrowned and all life's sweet nectar flowi ng down the cracks and seams wasted on some petty little prayers Reached up for despair but I was well below that cherished stag е And all My mangled hopes all song unsung I fear I've wasted all my sun I fear I've wasted all my time Everything is faded Smiles are fabricated now I fear I've wasted all my sun I fear I've wasted all my time Held my eyes closed for too long And I ran out through the streets in hopes that I might find it there But All my buildings stared back at me tenantless and bare Reached up for the sky, but it always seemed so far away Transcendent thoughts you gave lie atrophied and broken My mangled hopes all song unsung I fear I've wasted all my sun I fear I've wasted all my time Everything is faded Smiles are fabricated now I fear I've wasted all my sun I fear I've wasted all my time Held my eyes closed for too long And I sat when I should have stood; and swallowed when I should have spit But.

Until now I only recognize me in pictures taken long ago

All the changes simply haunt and never go away

A friend will tell when I hit hell, I may not feel the change

Held my eyes closed for too long

Held my eyes closed for too long

Just before I go don't you offer any sweet advice Cause where w ere all

Your shoulders when I needed them so long ago

And

Now with legs weak and weary from this silly dance With a suitcase full of memories, I pack my bags and slowly Drift away
