Masterpiece

What a wonderful day everything is ok not a problem in mind leaving worries behind except for that little doubt you have concerning your dress tonight so you take a bottle of french wine and then you say you don't live twice you cast the dice

Masterpiece you should have seen it that rainbow in the moonglow masterpiece you got to live it that new dawn tomorrow

What an elegant place you walk with elephant grace all Sunset Boulevard has been waiting the star they all gather to celebrate happy birthday my honey dear what a joy to see your old mates in this Hollywood atmosphere with us at last

Masterpiece you never act it but life is a movie masterpiece you got to try it we know you'd be moving

You had the tango too much you say you''l keep in touch back home in your rolls royce you smile and think of the boys all of sudden your sight obscures and your memories drift the air and you finally feel secure you're another star up there a star up there
