

Gonna Take Me Away from You

George Jones

For so long I have waited
While your heart hesitated
Now there's only one thing left to do
Your hearts so divided
That I finally decided
Gonna take me away from you.

Gonna take me away from you
So I can't see the things that you do
This may not make much sense
But in my hearts defense
Gonna take me away from you.

With every clrick of the track
My mind will go back
To the wonderful love we once knew
But it's all over now
I'll forget you somehow
When I take me away from you.

Gonna take me away from you
So I can't see the things that you do
This may not make much sense
But in my hearts defence
Gonna take me away from you.

Gonna take me away from you
So I can't see the things that you do
With a heart full of pain
I'll catch that old train
That'll take me away from you...
