

Dying of the light,
a million faces search the sky.
The universe was huge enough for us to hide.

Drifting with the tide,
a rite of passage to the stars.
I always knew the days were through for us to shine.

Live, love, fade out!

Days and nights seem never ending,
space and time bleed into one.

Hold on to the light,
to stay awake, to live and learn,
to keep your sanity.

Trace forgotten smiles,
to feel the rage and hear the tale,
of how the mission fell apart.

Stay here by the light,
to turn the page and feel the pain,
of being loved and left behind.

Sing the sun in flight,
to be afraid and live in vain.
Let the rest of us remain!

Live, love, shut down!

Days and nights seem never ending,
space and time bleed into one.
Dreams of our two worlds connecting,
fade as soon as they've begun.