

Away from order, but mind the border,
I can't bear another perfect sunrise,
A wretch like me, before sleeping,
Give me haze displays for days and days on end.

We'll find direction, exit place,
Insert a fractured space of,
A bird or something else with wings,
To make the guests unsettled when you say.

"Try to be true to what teachers taught you."
A solitary music for the lonely,
A solitary music for the lonely.

I know my place is in between, my graces left unseen:
Clouds blocking the light. That's all right;
'Cause thugs stole my shadow and left me, left me
Defrocked! Defrocked! Blocked; sent before my time.
Clouds blocking the light; that's all right.
Thugs stole my shadow...

It's the global block rising, a chemical flaw,
It's the global block rising, a chemical flaw,
It's the global block rising, a chemical flaw,
It's the global block rising, rising, rising,

An infiltration, congratulations,
The domination, congratulations,
The saturation,
The temporary fascination.

Everything turns away,
Everything turns away,
Everything turns away.