This Is Who We Are

Hawthorne Heights

Between the future and the past tense
Lies the present in the distance
So you think we're never coming back
Scoring points for passion and persistence
Between the lines and the highway
Lies the danger and the safety
You never thought this was gonna last

I always knew you'd never take it back
I always knew (I always knew!!)

I know it seems like we're never coming back
I know it feels like we're never coming back
You tried your best and you knew it wouldn't last
They were the words she placed on her casket

I know it seems like we're never coming back
I know it feels like we're never coming back
You tried your best and you knew it wouldn't last
They were the words she placed on her casket

Between the sadness and the smile
Lies the flicker of the fire
You always said this never hurt you
I always said you were a liar
With all the towers and the wires
There stills lies a little silence
Two hearts and one connection
One voice lacks emotion now

I always knew (I always knew!!)

I know it seems like we're never coming back
I know it feels like we're never coming back
You tried your best and you knew it wouldn't last
They were the words she placed on her casket

I know it seems like we're never coming back
I know it feels like we're never coming back
You tried your best and you knew it wouldn't last
They were the words she placed on her casket

Instead of flowers like words that never mattered
Close-it off forget about the sadness
(Close-it off forget about the sadness)
He always said she should have tried crying
Blaming him, as she was lying down

Not coming back!!! (Not coming back)

Not coming back!!! (Not coming back)

I know it seems like we're never coming back
I know it feels like we're never coming back
You tried your best and you knew it wouldn't last
They were the words she placed on her casket

I know it seems like we're never coming back
I know it feels like we're never coming back
You tried your best and you knew it wouldn't last
They were the words she placed on her casket

I know it seems like we're never coming back
I know it feels like we're never coming back
You tried your best and you knew it wouldn't last
They were the words she placed on her casket
