So Incredible

Ilse DeLange

In the middle of the day When the sun is aching And I try to make my way But the sidewalk's breaking Watch me slip between the cracks As I fall and fall and fall And I wonder where I'll land If I ever land at all

Oh, there's your hand

So incredible, the love we have The things we hold, let's make them last You pull me through When I get stuck in other little distractions So incredible So incredible

In the middle of the night When the stars all gather They conspire with the sky I'm sure it's me they're after Try to steal away my dreams Keep them for themselves As I'm stirring in my sleep Please just help me wake up

Oh, there's your hand

So incredible, the love we have The things we hold, let's make them last You pull me through When I get stuck in other little distractions Everything happens, I still know So incredible

Everything that we know Spinning out of control You never let me go Oh, oh, oh

So incredible, the love we have The things we hold, let's make them last You pull me through When I get stuck in other little distractions Everything happens, I still know So incredible So incredible

So incredible
