Hideaway

All gone. The sun is off to bed. The day's done So rest your head. We'll fly to a place across the bay. Outside, where it's dark and grey We'll hide away Under silver waves. We'll lie awake. Under a silver sky we'll hide away. So long. The night is closing in. Everyone is alone again We're going on a midnight ride Under stars and satellites, A thousand miles From where we've been. We'll hide away

Under silver waves. We'll lie awake. Under a silver sky we'll hide away.