Bad times are coming, coming Good friends are gone And my eyes keep hoping, hoping To tell need most? My faults were full and plenty And yours tore me up So it's no wonder I'm thinking really You're better off You're better off And I didn't want you anyway Don't need reminding I'm yours mistake No, I couldn't want you anyway Not anymore Not anymore Don't keep the fire burning When the colds dead and gone And wait until the warmth starts skipping And the flames are gone And the flames are gone And I didn't want you anyway Don't need reminding I'm yours mistake No, I couldn't want you anyway Not anymore Not anymore Don't keep my hope in darkness Let my mind digress I know your broken heart has laid my lives to rest But I didn't want you anyway No, I couldn't want you anyway

Not anymore Not anymore

I couldn't want you anyway