Heart

Jars of Clay

I let it get dark, so you'll see the stars They'll say we're in love, we probably are No mountains to climb, papers to sign Offer your heart, I've given you mine

One flag left to burn, one country to fall One soul to pour out, one love to catch all No walls to defend, wars to align Give me your heart, you already have mine No mountains to climb, papers to sign Offer your heart, I've given you mine

No mountains to climb, papers to sign Offer your heart, I've given you mine No walls to defend, wars to align Give me your heart, you already have mine Give me your heart, you already have mine Offer your heart, I've given you mine
