

Revolution

Jars of Clay

Peace takes a taxi to the underground.
I want to love the world but I don't know how.
I'll blame it on the d.j. playing all the fast songs- ain't spinning anything that I can sing along.

So if you know the words try to sing along.
When you get the beat, grab a hammer, bang a gong.
Cause you don't got to fight or make yourself belong to be a revolution.

If you wanna learn to play the "rock guitar."
Throw down your guns, you're gonna be a star.
You gotta begin with who you know you are to be a revolution.

Cause the time is right to cross that line to let love find a way.

If you know the words then try to sing along.
When you get the beat grab a hammer, bang a gong.
Cause you don't got to fight or make yourself belong to be a revolution.
It's all right, to be a revolution, it's all right yeah.

So if you know the words then try to sing along.
When you get the beat, grab a hammer, bang a gong.
Cause you don't got to fight or make yourself belong to be a revolution.

If you know the words then try to sing along.
And when you get the beat grab a hammer, bang a gong.
Cause you don't got to fight or make yourself belong to be a revolution.

If you know the words then try to sing along.
And when you get the beat grab a hammer, bang a gong.
Cause you don't got to fight or make yourself belong to be a revolution.
