

It Won't Matter Anymore

Jerrod Niemann

When you work, work, work all the time
It's like living in a prison without committing a crime
Why not laugh, laugh, laugh when you can
So go bury your toes and troubles in the sand

It won't matter anymore
No, It won't matter anymore
Pick a coast
Rent a boat
With your friends
Make a toast
It won't matter anymore

If you're hurt, hurt, hurt by the one you love
You're gonna be sad, so go be sad in the sun
Take a sip, sip, sip right out of your straw
Yeah, you'll feel better or feel nothing at all

Now if it storms, storms, storms when you're out to sea
You might be stranded on a tropical beach
Say goodbye, bye, bye to who you were
You'll have a hell of a time living in heaven on earth

It won't matter anymore
It won't matter anymore
