

Ruby Shoes

Jessica Andrews

The moon cast a shadow
On my bedroom wall
One silhouette not two
Nothing about this
Is familiar at all
Guess it's all what you're used to
I never pictured myself in this frame of mind
Maybe things will be different
When I open my eyes

But my name ain't Dorothy
These ain't ruby shoes
I can't click my heals any time I choose
And fly away
That ain't a tornado
Blowing out that door
That's the sound of him leaving
Cause he don't love me anymore
I'll just walk the floor
oh, but I sure could use
Some of those ruby shoes

Wish I could wave a wond
Like he waved goodbye
And change the lock on my heart
This is gonna down me
One tear at a time
If I don't stop it before it starts
Just setting here wishing Won't get it done
I know there's a road outa here
But I don't know which one

But my name ain't Dorothy
These ain't ruby shoes
I can't click my heals any time I choose
And fly away
That ain't a tornado
Blowing out that door
That's the sound of him leaving
Cause he don't love me anymore
I'll just walk the floor
oh, but I sure could use
Some of those ruby shoes
Sure could use
Sure could use
