

Ten Pins In The Sky

Judy Garland

Did you ever wonder why in thunder, thunder comes in spring?
Once upon a time, it seems all the world was wrapped in dreams
Playful little fellas, so they tell us, said, "Let's have our fling Spring is in the air, you know, it's time to wake 'em up below"

So, when the thunder starts to thunder don't run home and cry
They're playing ten-pins in the sky
Little fellas way up yonder make the raindrops fly
While rollin', bowlin' ten-pins in the sky

The world will wear a new bonnet, daffodils on it
Thanks to the skies above
Thunder and showers wake up the flowers
Where there are flowers there must be love
So, laugh at raindrops, laugh at thunder, clouds will soon roll
by
They're playing ten-pins in the sky

The world will wear a new bonnet, daffodils on it
Thanks to the skies above
Thunder and showers wake up the flowers
Where there are flowers there must be love
So, laugh at raindrops, laugh at thunder, clouds will soon roll
by
They're playing ten-pins in the sky