The Wall

I'm woven in a fantasy I can't believe the things I see The path that I have chosen now Has led me to a wall And with each passing day I feel a little more like something dear was lost

It rises now before me A dark and silent barrier between All I am, and all that I would ever want be It's just a travesty Towering, marking off the boundaries My spirit would erase

To pass beyond is what I seek I fear that I may be too weak And those are few who've seen it through To glimpse the other side The promised land is waiting Like a maiden that is soon to be a bride

The moment is a masterpiece The weight of indecision's in the air Standing there, the symbol and the sum of all that's me It's just a travesty Towering, blocking out the light and blinding me I want to see

Gold and diamonds cast a spell It's not for me I know it well The riches that I seek Are waiting on the other side There's more than I can measure In the treasures of the love that I can find

And though it's always been with me I must tear down the wall and let it be All I am and all that I was ever meant to be In harmony Shining true and smiling back at all who wait to cross There is no loss
